The critical text is edited by Davide Silvioli. "A Place of One's Own" features the work of seventeen artists: Michael Assiff, Anne Buckwalter, Greg Carideo, Michael Cline, Tom Harker, Ryan Nord Kitchen, Kwabena Lartey, Yoora Lee, Mevlana Lipp, Jj Manford, Galina Munroe, Dominic Musa, Boluwatife Oyediran, Foster Sakyiamah, Koichi Sato, Lumin Wakoa and Kiki Xuebing Wang.

"By choosing painting as a field of aesthetic dialogue, A place of one's own links the research of artists with different language and attitudes, according to a shared sensitivity about the way of interpreting the landscape and the domestic context, as a reflection of one's own interiority. An extension of one's individuality, therefore, expressed at times by clear terms and at others by implicit ways, both through the subversion of the rules of figuration and through the focus on metaphorical subjects. Nevertheless, in this linguistic plurality provided by the artists, the concept of the portrait as a place of conjunction between the intimate dimension and the external world remains constant." - Davide Silvioli
